Subject: Concerns with former Wilcox Refinery

Discussion:

Mr. Allen is the church deacon. He helped install a water well in 1989. A charcoal filter was used with the well, but it made little difference. The water continually had a high hydrocarbon content. The church abandoned the well in 1990 and went back to city water. Mr. Allen said surface water entering the well was the main problem with the contamination. The well has been capped off and the pumphouse is locked.

Other concerns: when the city installed a new water line they came across a 2 feet steel line leaking crude. Concrete foundations are located in many places around the church just beneath the surface. Stained soil is all around and runoff always has a sheen. Also, Mr. Allen says it is very difficult to get grass to grow.

Subject: his property at former Wilcox Refinery
Discussion: Spoke with Mr. White concerning ground water usage and possible air/soil contamination. He has an active well on his property but he does not use it because the water has a high gasoline (petroleum) content. He says the contamination is occurring in the 45-Foot aquifer that is saturated with hydrocarbons. The 85-Foot aquifer, in which the well is screened, is clean he says. Mr. White also informed me that well is not sealed off and can be easily utilized. Mr. White's son and his wife live in the residence at the site; they are on City (Bristow) water. Mr. White's other complaints were that it took him 15 years to grow a tree on the property and an impoundment that he believes contains an acid-laced sludge. He says the sludge will deteriorate anything.
